President's Report— Laura James

Bravo Edmond Quilt Guild

Huge Thanks - To all the quilters who entered and volunteers who helped the show run so smoothly and the vendors who donated gifts and door prizes.

Huge Congratulations - To the winners and to the committee for planning, organizing and executing a perfect show (not counting Brenda's broken wrist).

Huge Success - Yes, we felt everyone enjoyed the show from the vendors, to the public to our own members.

Huge Profit - We hoped for a modest profit considering this was our first effort, but we exceeded expectations and closed the show with a handsome profit.

So, you may wonder, "Where does the money go?" For the past four years we've squeaked by frugally, begging and borrowing and planning our programs and we'll continue to do so, but with the success of the quilt show we can think just a little bit bigger and plan for speakers that we can actually compensate with more than a handshake and a heartfelt thank you. So the funds will boost our program budget in 2008. Regular membership dues pay rent to MRCC and are used for supplies for Loving Touch and nominal speaker fees. (A detailed budget is available anytime upon request.)

Bright Future - It's yet to be decided when and if we'll have another quilt show, but I'm already dreaming up ideas for my next quilt project.

This guild is my best resource for ideas and inspiration. For some reason I can't stop envisioning something in red and green.

See you in October, Laura

Program Report - Alice Kellogg

As Robin would say (in Batman & Robin) HOLY CHRISTMAS! Doris and Ann really pull out the stops when it comes to Christmas quilts. All of them were lovely. I went home exhausted by their work and my dreams were in red and green.

October is Leola Jenkins of Oklahoma City. If you went to the fair this year, you saw some of her work. She is talented, unique and prolific.

October 16: Puzzle Quilts with Leola Jenkins. Leola has a unique eye for color and form. You will love her work and her quilting outlook.

November 20: Quilt Bingo! Lots of fun and lots of prizes.

December 18: Christmas party

January 15: Susan Lucky will speak to us about her "Legacy of Hope" project and working with the ABC baby quilt project.

February 19: Our own prize-winning Marilyn Karper will talk to us about quilting and photography.

Quilt Show Chairman – Lee Gray

Just a final "Thank You" to everyone for making the Quilt Show such a success. Thanks to the volunteers, those who entered quilts, those who bought from our vendors, our ribbon makers, board members and most of all the Quilt Show committee members.

I just got preliminary Quilt Show figures from Brenda and they are even better than I had projected. Be sure and come to the October Guild meeting to here the final figures.

Again, Thank You for all you help, kindness and support during my time as your Quilt Show Chairman.

Lee Gray

To Lee and the Quilt Show Committee a very special thank you for all the hard work and the wonderful Quilt Show what an awesome job!

Membership Report– Debi Pickens

We currently have 130 members in our wonderful guild. 60 members and 9 guests enjoyed our Christmas Trunk Show. One of those guests joined. I hope you picked up your roster and corrections page. I will bring them to the next meeting if you missed it.

Don't miss any meetings because we have had some wonderful door prizes donated and you want to win.

EQG Shinning Stars

Don Lusk always wins a blue ribbon at the State Fair for one of his shirts and he did this year too. But he surprised us by winning a blue ribbon and Best of Show in embroidery. Congrats to you Don!

Other EQG quilters in this year's fair was Laura Beavers and Vicky Wylie. Joyce Curtis won 2 ribbons and one of them was a blue for a baby quilt. Our overachiever with time on her hands, Brenda Esslinger, won 5 ribbons with one of them blue. Debra Lea won a red for her Centennial quilt.

Congratulations to all the fair winners!

Don Lusk also has a quilt at Houston. Look for the HP sponsored exhibit on Fairy Tale quilts and his will be "The Three Pigs."

The winners list for our own quilt show was included with your program at the show. For all that entered and all that won ribbons, congratulations.

Loving Touch– Cheryl Boles

Weren't you inspired by all those Christmas quilts? You can make your own small one - 15 to 24 inches square - and send it to Children's Hospital to brighten up the nursery for Christmas! We need it by the November guild meeting so it can be washed and ready to use in December.

The denim/flannel quilts for the teen boys in foster care are about half done. There will be kits ready to pick up at the October meeting and they need to be back by the November meeting. They are for Citizens Caring for Children.

If you have ideas about what organization we should make our quilts for next year, just let me know. Thanks to Quilter's Quarters and My Sister's Quilt, we have several bolts of bright fabric asking to be used.
